

Bible Study: Is Death to Self a Daily Experience?

Objective: To provide a comprehensive, Scripture-grounded, Spirit of Prophecy-aware response to the commonly held Adventist belief that death to self is a daily process. This study examines both biblical texts and Ellen White's writings to demonstrate the true nature of "death to self" as a once-for-all experience lived out continually, not repeated daily.

Part 1: Scriptural Foundation — What Does the Bible Say?

A. The Language of Spiritual Death in the New Testament

After a full analysis of every New Testament verse using words like "died," "die," "death," "crucified," and so on, we discover:

- Spiritual death is always described in past-tense or completed terms for the believer:
 - Romans 6:2¹ – "How shall we who died to sin live any longer in it?"
 - Romans 6:6 – "Our old man was crucified with Him."
 - Galatians 2:20 – "I have been crucified with Christ."
 - Colossians 3:3 – "For you died, and your life is hidden with Christ."
- Death to sin/self is spoken of as an identity change, not an ongoing action. It is something that happened when we were united with Christ at conversion.
- There is no verse that says we must die spiritually every day. The only phrase used is "once for all" (Romans 6:10).

B. Commonly Misused Verse: 1 Corinthians 15:31

- "I die daily" is contextually about physical danger and Paul's constant exposure to death due to preaching the resurrection (v.30–32).
- Paul is not talking about a daily spiritual death, but physical peril for the gospel.

C. True Ongoing Experience: Living by Faith, Not Dying Daily

- Romans 6:11 – "Reckon yourselves to be dead indeed to sin, but alive to God."
- Galatians 5:25 – "If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit."
- Ongoing life is emphasized—not ongoing death.

D. Exceptions?

- Romans 8:13 and Colossians 3:5 use the present tense about putting to death the deeds of the body, but these refer to actions (sins), not identity.
 - These verses show ongoing mortification of sin, not repeated death of self.

Part 2: What About Ellen White?

"The Spirit was not given--nor can it ever be bestowed--to supersede the Bible; for the Scriptures explicitly state that the word of God is the standard by which all teaching and experience must be tested."

— The Great Controversy, p. 9

This foundational statement from Ellen White herself makes it clear: the Bible remains the final authority. Her writings are not to override Scripture but to uplift and clarify biblical truths.

A. What She Says

- Ellen White repeatedly quotes 1 Corinthians 15:31 to support daily dying to self (e.g. LS 237.1², 8T 313.3³, UL Aug. 5, etc.).
- She uses the phrase "I die daily" to refer to internal battles, self-denial, and victory over temptation.

B. The Problem

- Her application of 1 Corinthians 15:31 is not the original context of Paul's statement.
- There is no other verse she appeals to for daily death. The foundation is a misapplied text.

C. Possible Explanations

1. Sensus Plenior (Fuller Meaning): Like NT writers applying OT texts in ways beyond original context, Ellen White may be drawing out a broader spiritual principle.
 - But we must not confuse application with interpretation.
 - The application must not contradict theology clearly taught elsewhere.
2. Prophetic Limitations: Being inspired does not mean infallibility in usage of verses. She herself wrote:

"The testimonies are not to give new light, but to impress vividly upon the heart the truths of inspiration already revealed."⁴

3. True Principle, Misapplied Text:

- Her emphasis on ongoing self-denial and victory over temptation is valid.
 - But this principle should be rooted in the Bible's actual teaching about living the crucified life, not a flawed interpretation of 1 Corinthians 15:31.

Part 3: Answering Common Adventist Objections

Objection 1: "So you're saying Ellen White is wrong?"

- No, we're saying she made a mistake in application, not that she is uninspired.
- Inspiration allows for humanity (see 1 Corinthians 7:12 vs. 7:40 – Paul himself distinguishes between inspiration and opinion).
- Even Ellen White acknowledged the Bible as supreme:
 - "The Bible is the only rule of faith and doctrine."
— Letter 105, 1903

Objection 2: "But she's inspired like the Bible writers!"

- She herself said: "I am not a prophet... I am the Lord's messenger."⁵
- Her role was to guide to the Bible, not supersede it.

Objection 3: "Then what does it mean to crucify self daily?"

- It means to live each day according to a death that has already occurred.
- We don't die again but walk in the Spirit (Gal. 5:24–25).

Objection 4: "But shouldn't we strive daily to follow God?"

- Absolutely. We strive daily to live out our once-for-all death to self. This is the biblical model of sanctification.

Objection 5: "Won't this cause disunity or doubt in Ellen White's inspiration?"

- Not if we understand her writings correctly. She herself said, "The Bible is the only rule of faith and doctrine."
- Unity in error is not unity at all. True unity comes from submitting to Scripture.

- Differentiating interpretation from application honors both the prophetic gift and the supremacy of the Bible.
- As Ellen White wrote: "The testimonies are not to give new light, but to impress vividly upon the heart the truths of inspiration already revealed." (5T 665)

Part 4: Conclusion — A Liberating Gospel

- You are not called to kill yourself spiritually every day.
- You have died once with Christ, and now you live a new life.
- True victory is not in repeated death, but in walking in resurrection power.

Memory Verses

- Romans 6:11 – “Reckon yourselves to be dead indeed to sin, but alive to God in Christ Jesus our Lord.”
- Galatians 2:20 – “I have been crucified with Christ; it is no longer I who live...”

Final Appeal:

Stop trying to die again.

Start living from the death that already happened.

Live in the Spirit.

Walk in newness of life.

This is the biblical gospel of victorious living.
